DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The abstract is objected to because it exceeds the limit of 150 words. Correction is required.

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Art Unit: 3692

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-17 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-17 of U.S. Patent No. 6,772,131.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claims 1-17 of the instant application are substantially the same as those found in U. S. Patent No. 6,772,131. That claims 1-17 of the instant application claim a method, as compared to the system claimed in the patent, does not create any patentable differences between the application and the patent. Further, that claims 1-17 of the application appear to be re-structured versions of those found in claims 1-17 of the patent also does not create any patentable differences between the application and the patent. Therefore, claims 1-17 of the instant application are obvious over U. S. Patent No. 6,772,131.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 18, 19, and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Clark et al., U.S. Patent 5,890,140.

As per claim 18, Clark discloses a trade finance system comprising remote spoke user access locations providing access to trade finance work items (column 3 lines 15-18, fig. 29) and a centralized hub processing location coupled to said remote locations and consolidating processing of the work items (col. 5 lines 1-9, fig. 1 item 10)

As per claim 19, Clark discloses a trade finance system comprising remote spoke user access locations providing access to a trade finance work item (col. 3 lines 15-18, fig. 29) and located in different time zones (abstract), and a hub processing location coupled to said remote locations and processing of the work item across the different time zones (abstract, col. 5 lines 1-9, fig. 1 item 10).

As per claim 20, Clark discloses a computer readable storage media for controlling a computer (col. 5 lines 55-58) by initiating trade finance processing of trade finance work items from geographically distributed locations (abstract, col. 3 lines 1-9) and processing the work items in a centralized location (col. 5 lines 1-9).
